A change of scenery is all you might need to reignite that spark in your relationship.

A 2012 survey found that couples who travel together are more likely to be satisfied in their relationships, communicate well with their partners, enjoy more romance, have a better sex life, spend quality time together, and share common goals and desires. A whopping 79% of couples believe traveling together positively impacted their bond, and 67% claim at least one important aspect of their relationship improved after taking a trip together.

And wouldn't you say this makes sense? Taking a break from the day-to-day, getting away from life stressors and responsibilities, and sharing new experiences as a couple can help to remind you exactly what you love about each other. And this applies whether you've been dating for a year or married for ten.

Needless to say, the right accommodations can totally set the tone for your getaway as a couple. If you're unsure how to figure out where to find the best dose of vacation romance, we've got you covered.

Whether your idea of a romantic getaway involves basking in the sun on a Caribbean beach, hiking and exploring the great outdoors together, or wining and dining your way through a historic European city, here are some hotels and resorts that guarantee an unforgettable stay.

The Hotel de Sers: Paris, France

The Hotel de Sers

You simply cannot beat the location at this haven in the City of Love, which is a stone's throw from the Champs-Élysées with a view of the Eiffel Tower. Set in a 19th-century mansion, the Hotel de Sers features 45 unique bedrooms and 7 spacious suites which include a few that feature expansive terraces with awe-inspiring views of the Eiffel Tower.

Pop open the complimentary bottle of bubbly upon arrival to your suite, then head down to the full-service spa complete with a sauna and hammam. When night falls, dine on modern French cuisine in the patio garden, followed by a nightcap at the trendy, intimate on-site cocktail bar.
